

iATN: Who, What, Why...

Since 1995 automotive professionals have enjoyed the benefits of iATN membership. Learn from peers in our interactive environment, ask questions, search millions of real-world discussions and repairs. Discover how to work more efficiently, and study best practices illustrated by industry professionals. Get the most from diagnostic equipment and transport you through to the next level.

Read more about iATN can help you. Below are some of the benefits available to those qualified to join iATN: automotive pros for the least four years of experience or ASE certification.

TechHelp: Technical Assistance for Auto Pros

TechHelp is the heart of iATN. Thousands of professional automotive technicians, from all over the world, helping each other with real world automotive problems, 24 hours a day.

Inside the Members Only area, your personalized TechHelp page is the central clearinghouse for all things related to TechHelp. You can open a new help request, update or close request that you currently have open, add further comments to help request you have closed in the past, help other members with their vehicle problems, update your subscription settings, view the current TechHelp stats for you and the rest of the iATN, and more.

Knowledge Base: Real-World Knowledge from Professional Technicians

The iATN Knowledge Base is available to all premium iATN subscribers. Searchable automotive repair knowledge. Our FIX database of hundreds of thousands of real-world vehicle fixes. Forum archives consisting of millions of iATN web forum postings. Waveform library containing thousands of waveforms, scan data, component photos, documents, and more.

Forums: Technical, Shop Management, and Auto Industry Discussion

Here you will talk with other automotive professionals on a variety of specific automotive topics, including not only the technical side of repairing vehicles, but also industry issues, shop management, automotive education, and more. Over 20 different web forums available

Resources: Automotive OEM, Industry and Government Resources

Members have access to a wide array of technical information published on iATN from many of the OEMs, government resources and industry heavy weights. Information ranges from manufacturer-specific information to government regulations and useful online tools

My iATN: Collect Your Favorite iATN Information

Members use "My iATN" to instantly save, categorize, sort, locate, and share their favorite items on iATN. When performing research on iATN, they save the most pertinent results under a single label specific to their customer's vehicle or topic, and easily refer to it later to complete the job.

IATN Marketplace: Post jobs, find jobs, industry events, discounts

Premium members can post job offered and job wanted ads, as well as non-commercial automotive items for sale, such as used equipment, parts, and even established automotive businesses. Commercial sales are not permitted in the forum, so the participants are generally other technicians and owners, selling their own personal items. You can see a few of the latest posts in the Classifieds Forum below.

Chat: Live chat with automotive professionals

Live conferencing rooms on iATN 24 hours a day. Chat with fellow iATN members. Only available to the other members of iATN, guaranteeing conversations with automotive professionals. All members are able to moderate the rooms to ensure decorum.